Embrace a
Giant Spirit

Welcome to the Causeway Coast and Glens

Some things never change and in the words of Lonely Planet we still deliver ‘...timeless beauty and high-grade distractions – golf, whiskey and some of the world’s most popular rocks!’ This place has evolved over millions of years and will always take your breath away with every twist and turn of the road. Rediscover the joy of travelling and reawaken your senses as you immerse yourself in the stories of the area. Revel in the warm welcome of our people, who will transport you from the mythical to the real-life drama of our castles and townlands. Rejoice in reconnecting with nature in four Areas of Outstanding Natural Beauty, from the rolling glens to the dramatic cliffs and headlands shadowing miles of golden sand. Soak up the breathtaking panoramic views from our two spectacular coastal viewpoints along the Causeway Coastal Route. Explore some of our most appreciated and valued landscape along the International Appalachian Trail.

And of course, you can always take to the water and reflect from a new perspective. The region is rightly known for its iconic tourist attractions and coastal scenery. Immerse yourself in food heaven, with an outstanding array of fresh local ingredients, passionate producers, award-winning chefs and dynamic distillers and brewers. Recognised as Northern Ireland's first accredited Slow Food destination, we invite you to embrace our exceptional food and drink offering, amidst the stunning backdrop of the region. Whether you're thinking of coming to the Causeway Coast and Glens for the first time, or you are a regular visitor, we promise you a warm welcome and an unforgettable experience. Whatever experiences you choose, our bighearted hosts look forward to welcoming you as you embrace the giant spirit that lives strong in Northern Ireland.

Rathlin

Rathlin Island is an iconic landmark off the northern coastline of County Antrim and forms part of the panorama of the Causeway Coastal Route. It lies just six miles off the coast from Ballycastle. The high sea cliffs lend an aura of mystery, urging you to explore what lies beyond, but arguably, its greatest asset is the breeding seabird colony. The island also boasts significant natural heritage sites and is internationally important for its flora and, in some cases, its unique marine life. Visitors' cars are restricted, and the roads are quiet and ideal for walking and cycling. On the island you can follow the Sustrans National Cycle Network Route to the West Lighthouse, East Lighthouse and Rue Lighthouse or follow one of the island's beautiful walking trails. To reach the island, take the ferry from Ballycastle Harbour to Church Bay, Rathlin. There are two ferries and the journey will take no longer than 40 minutes. You can choose to do a round trip in a day or stay a while and enjoy unique accommodation and hospitality. The island's strong cultural heritage, with storytelling, songs and music, is legendary.

The Glens of Antrim

Endowed with evocative names and blessed with a diversity of landscape, The Glens are rich in history, folklore and natural beauty, each is named according to its attributes. Escape to a world away from the frantic bustle of modern life and explore the woods, waterfalls, riverside paths, viewing points and forest parks among Glencloy (the glen of the hedges), Glenarm (the glen of the army), Glenariff (the fertile glen), Glenballyeamon (the Edwardstown glen), Glencorp (the glen of the slaughtered), Glenann (the glen of the colt's foot), Glendun (the glen of the brown river), Glenshesk (the sedgy glen) and Glentaisie (the glen of Taisie of the bright sides). This section brings you along the coast from Waterfoot, through Cushendall and Cushendun, to Ballycastle and Rathlin Island, before sweeping inland to Armoy. There is no doubt this area contains some of the most striking and varied scenery in Northern Ireland.

🔍 Places of Interest

Waterfoot Beach

Backed by sand dunes, it is a conservation area known for the presence of the yellow rattle flower and the small copper butterfly. BT44 OJE.

Murlough Bay

Buzzards and peregrine falcons hunt along the cliff tops at Murlough Bay, while eider and fulmar skirt along the bottom. There are car parks on different levels and picnic areas from which to enjoy the breathtaking views. BT54 6RG.

Torr Head

A remote headland with jaw-dropping vistas stretching over the North Channel as far as Scotland (on a clear day). BT54 6RQ.

Loughareema Lake

A natural phenomenon—a sparkling oasis one day and just a few days later, a bed of cracked mud with not a drop of water in sight. BT44 OTA.

Fair Head

This is a ruggedly beautiful and remote area for climbers and walkers. As Northern Ireland's tallest cliff face, Fair Head is believed to be the biggest expanse of climbable rock in either the Republic of Ireland or the UK. A series of walks begin at the farm car park (charges apply) which is clearly signposted off the Fairhead Road. Anglers should also note that the Fair Head lakes are stocked with trout and can be fished during the summer. BT54 6RD.

Ballypatrick Forest (Grid reference: D181359)

Located on the main A2 road near the intriguing Loughareema and the Glens of Antrim, the forest includes off-road car parking, picnic areas and a waymarked walking trail. Watch out for occasional glimpses of the elusive red squirrel and sika deer. 'Touring in the Trees' caravan site is next to the car park.

CraicNTour

Take a guided scenic taxi tour through the Glens of Antrim and along the Causeway Coast, guided by local historian and folklore enthusiast, John Robbin.

Known locally as 'The Capital of the Glens', Cushendall is a beautiful conservation town at the foot of Lurigethan Mountain.

🔍 Places of Interest

Cushendall Beach

A picturesque sandy and shingle beach set in a bay immediately to the north east of Cushendall. The beach is bounded by a grassed area with pathways, and Cushendall Golf Club further back. There is a toilet block, car parking and play area adjacent to the beach entrance. Enjoy spectacular views across The Sea of Moyle to the Mull of Kintyre on the Scottish coast which is just over 20 miles away. BT44 0QW.

The Curfew Tower

A prominent feature of the town built in 1817 by Francis Turnly. BT44 0RP.

Red Bay Castle

The ruins of the castle, reputedly built by Sir James MacDonnell lie on the outskirts of the town and date back to around 1561. BT44 0SH.

Hurling & The Glens

Learn about the game of hurling and its significance from three local expert sporting stars. Experience a demonstration and the opportunity to play the ancient game. Take a walk along the idyllic coastal path and pour a pint in a traditional Irish bar owned by hurling 'All-Star' Terence McNaughton.

Cottage Wood

Surround yourself in the peaceful setting of the 10-acre Cottage Wood, where you can enjoy a series of interesting walks, viewpoints, picnic facilities and playparks with occasional glimpses of red squirrels. BT44 0RR.

The Cliff Path

This attractive coastal path hugs the cliffs to the north of Cushendall and offers spectacular views of the Scottish coast, Lurigethan, Red Bay Castle and the Garron Plateau. BT44 0NG.

Glenariff Forest Park

1,000 hectares of planted woodland, lakes, recreation spaces and conservation areas. Enjoy walking, horse riding and touring. Stay overnight in a touring vehicle. There are walking trails through the forest giving spectacular views and glimpses of wildlife, including the 3km Waterfall Walk Trail. Experience afternoon tea at the Glenariff Teahouse. Visit www.nidirect.gov.uk/articles/glenariff-forestpark for details. BT44 0QX.

Cloud Nine N.I

Experience Sunday morning yoga in the Glenariffe Community and Leisure Centre in a spacious room overlooking the stunning Waterfoot beach. Cushendun

Between Cushendall and Ballycastle is the pretty village of Cushendun, managed by the National Trust and most notable for its unusual Cornish style cottages (the work of Clough William Ellis).

Places of Interest

Glendun Viaduct

An impressive structure built in 1839 by the world-renowned English architect Sir Charles Lanyon. BT44 0SU.

Cregagh Wood

An ancient woodland site and local nature reserve, abundant with specialist flora and home to a population of red squirrels. BT44 0QD.

Cushendun Beach

A rural, sandy beach with views across to the Mull of Kintyre on a clear day and access to walking trails and the beautiful Glendun Valley. BT44 0PJ.

Ballycastle

Ballycastle (in 2022 crowned the Best Place to live in Northern Ireland by The Sunday Times) is a small seaside town, where tradition and culture run parallel with modern living. The popular beach runs from the pier at Ballycastle Marina at the western end to the stunning Pans Rocks in the east.

Q Places of Interest

Bonamargy Friary

Built by Rory McQuillan, the friary was claimed by the MacDonnell Clan in the 16th century. It contains a sealed burial vault, wherein lie the coffins of several Earls of Ulster and chieftain, Sorley Boy MacDonnell. BT54 6QP.

Ronan's Way

Experience a truly inspiring landscape, from the Glendun River through farmland, woodland scrub and peatland. Ballycastle, BT44 0TF.

Ballycastle Forest

On the slopes of Knocklayd Mountain, this was first planted in 1931. Most of this early woodland has been clearfelled and replanted, producing a more diverse range of wildlife habitats and offering panoramic views of the coast to the north and Rathlin Island, and on a clear day to the Scottish Islands. BT54 6PF.

Portballintrae

Portballintrae is a seaside village close to Bushmills with a small sandy beach and pretty harbour area. There is a car park, picnic area, toilets and shop adjacent to the beach. The small harbour is a focal point for many water activities in the village. Runkerry Beach is also a wonderful place to explore but is not suitable for bathing or water sports due to rip currents. The village has close associations with La Girona, one of 24 ships from the 1588 Spanish Armada which were wrecked along the Irish coast. Its treasure, recovered by divers during the 1960s and brought ashore at Portballintrae, can be viewed today in Belfast's Ulster Museum. The village also acts as a trailhead for many wonderful coastal walking opportunities, including the section of the Causeway Coast Way providing off-road walking to the Giant's Causeway, approximately 1.5 miles away.

Limavady

Limavady town is nestled between the picturesque Roe Valley and Binevenagh Mountain. The town itself is characterised by family-owned independent retailers, with a unique choice not found in many of the high streets. History and mythical stories make Limavady a charming and intriguing town to visit.

Q Places of Interest

Magilligan Point Nature Reserve

Located close to the tip of one of the largest sand dune systems in the British Isles, the cycling of sand around the foreland and out to the Tunns Bank at Magilligan Point has been going on for centuries. Visitors will be treated to views of seabirds using the narrows and in winter, migrating waders and wildfowl. BT49 0LP.

Binevenagh Mountain

One of the most distinctive headlands along the Causeway Coast, Binevenagh offers panoramic views over Lough Foyle, the Roe Valley, Inishowen and to the west coast of Scotland. BT49 0LL.

Dungiven

The market town of Dungiven (meaning Given's Fort) lies nine miles south of Limavady, near the foot of Benbradagh Mountain. The surrounding areas contain many places of historical significance including Dungiven Castle. The first castle was built by the O'Cahan clan but the existing structure was constructed by Robert Ogilby in the 1800s. It now operates as a Gael Scoil and is not open to the public.

Q Places of Interest

Dungiven Priory and O'Cahan's Tomb

The ancient Augustinian Priory was founded by the O'Cahan Clan in AD1100 and occupies a picturesque site 200ft above the River Roe. BT47 4PF.

Banagher Old Church

This impressive ruin is a religious site dating from the late 11th or early 12th century. Legend has it that sand gathered from a nearby tomb brings the beneficiary good luck. BT47 4SR.

Bovevagh Old Church

Commonly interpreted as deriving from Maeve's Church, this church has been in ruins since 1622. BT47 4NP.

Benbradagh Mountain

Lying within the Sperrin Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, it is steeped in folklore, while the summit offers a panoramic view over the Sperrins, Roe and Bann Valley and into Donegal. BT47 4QU.

Tannyranny Church

Located on the slopes of Benbradagh the remains of this old church date back to the 18th century. BT47 4QT.

Banagher Glen and Forest

Three miles south of Dungiven, off the B74 is a secluded, steep wooded glen leading to Altnaheglish Reservoir and Banagher Dam. Be inspired as you navigate a route through one of the oldest ancient oak woodlands in Ireland. Banagher Glen is a Nature Reserve and Special Area of Conservation. BT47 4PN.

GOLF

The Causeway Coast and Glens is a golfer's paradise—home to iconic greens, rich heritage, and champions born of wind and sea. Royal Portrush's legendary Dunluce Links, which overlooks the 13th-century Dunluce Castle, has hosted The Open three times (1951, 2019, 2025), welcoming 278,000 fans to the 153rd edition in July 2025. Portstewart's Strand Course—shaped by towering dunes and celebrated by Irish Open winner Jon Rahm—offers dramatic views across the Atlantic to Inishowen. Castlerock's Mussenden Course and Ballycastle also deliver coastal challenges and stunning scenery. For budding golfers and families, there are courses to develop their swing at less challenging par 3 or pitch and putt courses.

This rugged region has nurtured local legends: Fred Daly, Darren Clarke, and Graeme McDowell all hail from here, while Old Tom Morris, Rhona Adair, and May Hezlet helped shape Portrush into the "St Andrews of Ireland" in the 19th century. The Causeway Coast Tournament—founded in 1967—spans five days across multiple clubs and attracts hundreds from around the globe.

After your round, unwind with maritime sunsets, local seafood, and traditional craic along the Causeway Coastal Route. Whether you're a touring pro or a weekend player, the Causeway Coast and Glens delivers unforgettable golf, legendary history, and a warm welcome. Book your tee-off today!

Discovery Routes and Trails

Cycling

Cyclists are spoilt for choice for great cycling routes in Causeway Coast and Glens. With a choice of inland and coastal ways suitable for all levels of ability, you can enjoy a memorable experience on two wheels.

Eagle's Glen Cycle Route (14 miles)

A hilly trail on the picturesque Glenullin Valley, exploring the Errigal landscape and Garvagh forest.

The Lower Bann Cycleway (45 miles)

Cycle between Toome and Castlerock following the Lower Bann River corridor from Lough Neagh to where the river enters the Atlantic Ocean at The Barmouth near Castlerock.

Bann Valley Cycle Route (15 miles)

Linking Garvagh and Kilrea on quiet country roads, this route traverses the fertile landscape of the Bann Valley, with views beyond towards the Antrim Hills.

The Banagher Cycle Route (28 miles)

A challenging trail, circling the foothills of the Sperrin Mountains and passing through uplands, farmlands, towns and villages

Causeway Coast Cycle Route - Route 93 (23 miles)

This stunning 23-mile cycle route runs along the North Atlantic coast from the Giant's Causeway to Castlerock via Coleraine on sections of National Cycle Network Route 93. Points of interest along the way include the Giant's Causeway, Portstewart Strand and Mussenden Temple.

International Appalachian Trail

ULSTER IRELAND

For the ultimate challenge, walkers can follow the 284 mile / 457km route that traverses Causeway Coast and Glens. The Ulster-Ireland chapter of the International Appalachian Trail is part of one of the world's largest trail networks and includes stunning landscapes, world-class attractions and experiences whilst taking in Areas of Outstanding Natural Beauty, World Heritage sites, forestry and stunning coastlines. Get your walking boots on and familiarise yourself with the places and people you can expect to come across along the way.

Walking

Walking in the Causeway Coast and Glens offers endless possibilities. Taking in the incredible scenery on foot can be as challenging or relaxing as you choose. From strolling along our many miles of golden, sandy beaches, to following marked trails through forests, past waterfalls, to mountain tops and through valleys, there is a walk to suit everyone.

The Moyle Way (27 miles/42km)

Connecting the coastal settlements of Ballycastle and Waterfoot, it runs through the heart of the Glens of Antrim, taking the walker through an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty and a land of geology, wildlife, history and folklore. Following a mixture of forest tracks and remote upland moor, the 42km route traverses the slopes of Trostan, Antrim's highest summit at 550m. The mountain sections can be wet and rough underfoot. Full navigation skills are required in bad weather.

The Causeway Coast Way (33 miles/52km)

Walk along Northern Ireland's most celebrated coastline, connecting the coastal resorts of Portstewart and Ballycastle. The 52km route includes sandy beaches, dramatic cliff paths, iconic viewpoints and world famous historic and natural landmarks. With frequent access points, including car parking and facilities, and terrain suitable for all fit walkers, this route provides walking opportunities for a wide range of users.

The North Sperrins Way (37 miles/60km)

Connecting Dungiven and Castlerock this route provides an upland trail experience across open mountain and forest. It traverses higher ground forming the northern foothills of the Sperrin Mountains, passing notable landscape features including Benbradagh and Binevenagh, with spectacular views over Lough Foyle towards Donegal.

Heritage Trails and Driving Routes
